Gentlemen,—I wish to teatify to the merits of your Liquid Sulphur and Liquid Sulphur Ointment. I am a police officer stationed at Baltimore and Charles Streets, and all my friends and many others know that I have long suffered with a bad case of Eczema of the palms of my hands and have had by wear gloves all the time.

I was under treatment by eminent physicians for a long time without success. Last summer your Liquid Sulphur and Ointment were recommended to me and I began its use. My hands improved from the first application. After about a week's trial I went to the Johns Hopkins Hospital to have my hands treated with X-Rays. At the Hospital I was advised to continue the use of the Liquid Sulphur and Ointment, as it seemed to be doing my hands muce good. Under their advice I continued to use the Liquid Sulphur and Ointment for six weeks or two months, and at the end of that time my hands were cured, and they are as sound as anybody's.

I have used the Sulphur constantly in my family, and it is excellent, also, for the bath, for sore and tender feet and for any ohafed or sore places.

I cannot recommend your Liquid Sulphur and Ointment too highly.

FATE HANGS IN BALANCE

After Hour's Deliberation Jury in Case of Cottrell and Wife Disagree.

The court room in Henrico County Courthouse yesterday was the reene of one of the most pathetic trials that have taken place before that tribunal for many principals in the case, and the presente of a little girl, six years of age, a daugh ter of the two prisoners, added to the pitiful situation.

After sitting in the court room until After sitting in the court room until late in the evening the jury in the case of James A. Cottrell and wife, charged with robbing the storehouse at the Gayton Mines on the 30th of July, falled to agree, and will assemble again this morning at 10 o'clock for further deliberation. The case was called yesterday morning at the opening of court, and was in progress until after 6 o'clock, when the jury went to their room to deliberate. It was 8 o'clock when Foreman Smith brought in the jury and stated that the

The alleged crime is said to have occurred at the store house of the Gayton Mining Company, at which time a large amount of clothing and other merchandise were stolen. Mr. and Mra. Cottrell were arrested in September on a warrant charging them with the crime. After a hearing in the lower court they were sent on to the grand jury.

Witnesses testified that Mrs. Cottrell's father. Richard Alley, was employed as a watchman at the mines, and that she was familiar with the place.

The prosecution was conducted by Commonwealth's Attorney Wendenburg, who had upon his desk sliftleient wearing apparel to open up a clothing store. This was alleged to have been taken from the Gayton store. Among the merchandise was a large quantity of lace, which, it was stated by a witness for the prosecution, that this was a portion of the 850 yards that was taken when the robbery occurred. The lace that was produced had been made, it was said, into a woman's garment, and according to the statement of a sister of the prisoner, she bought it from Mrs. Cottrell. There were several hats, a pair of ladles' shoes and other goods, which, according to the statements of Mr. Jones, manager of the store, were the same style and pattern as was carried in stock, and which was taken at the time of the robbery.

The defense was represented by Messrs, James R. Russell and George C. Fitzhigh, and both made strong speeches. When the question was up of how the prisoners came by the goods, which were produced in court, they introduced extended to the effect that the things nad been purchased from the store two years ago, at which time the mines were closed and a cut rate sale was held.

Many witnesses were put on the stand, and much of their ordere was against the prisoners, a house in the stated that

The Commonwealth's attorney, in addressing to the jury, stated that in his opinion, the woman was influenced largely by her husband, and it was only by his instance that she assisted him in the crime. He stated that he thought the man should be dealt with according to his actions, and in consideration of the circumstances surrounding the case of the wife he recommended that they hear these in mind;
